

Theoriehuis.nl (Theory House) developed a unique English theory course for people in the Netherlands who do not speak Dutch (see www.theoryhouse.nl for more info). The CBR theory exam is a very difficult exam to take. The way of questioning can be hard to understand and confusing sometimes. You will have 65 questions, 25 about hazard recognition and 40 about Dutch traffic regulations. You can make 12 mistakes at hazard recognition, but only 5 at the questions about the Dutch traffic regulations. This ensures that more than 75% of all people fail the first time they take the CBR exam. We teach you the theory you need to learn to drive safely on the Dutch roads, but also we give you an exam focused training. This means that we're going to show you some questions you will get at your CBR exam and we will explain to you how to interpret those questions. The theory course is a one day training and takes the entire day (9am till 5pm). The course is usually held on Sunday's. The exam always take place the day after the course (at 11:30). The cost for a theory course including an exam is €139,50. If you fail the first time you can follow the course again for free (you only have to pay for a new exam). You can register for the theory course through our website <http://theoriehuis.nl/inschrijven/?afz=knop&rubriek=2812&cursus=20031&cursusDag=17&cursusMaand=11&cursusTijdstip=372038>.

Besides the theory course we are mainly a driving school (www.rijsschooldenk.nl/for_foreigners.html). We are specialized in helping foreigners to obtain their driving license in the Netherlands. We have specially trained English ADI's (Approved Driving Instructors). They also gave lesson in English countries. This ensures that they know all the exact concepts to explain correctly what you have to do to pass the CBR exam. On top of that, all our driving instructors are also trained fear of failure instructors. The driving lessons are always 2 hours in length (120 minutes). We developed an intensive driving course and have specific lesson plans for every lesson. You always start with an intake lesson to see how many hours you will need in order for you to get ready for the exam. You will get a detailed report in your mail the next day with an advice on how to take the next step(s). You can also ask your instructor to answer any questions you have. You can start your intake lesson after we register you, for that you need to provide us with your contact details such as phone number and address. We work with an online agenda so after the first lesson you can plan the lessons immediately into the online agenda of your driving instructor. Also, our online system holds your balance, progress and syncs with your outlook if you want.
